SCHOOL TAX CARRIES BY GOOD MAJORITY

The school tax election carried Tuesday by a majority of 90 out of the 339 votes cast, the figures standing 211 to 128. Only in the first ward, where the people already have all the school facilities needed and who get the benefit of most of the proceeds of the big bond issue of two or three years ago, that the proposition met defeat. The fourth, which shares these benefits with the first, came across handsomely and unselfishly.

Following is the vote by wards: First, 43 to 61; Second, 57 to 10; Third, 53 to 17; Fourth, 50 to 36. Attached territory, 8 to 4.

Misses Mildred Kerr and Novia McKenny left this morning for Centrahoma and other points for an extended visit with relatives and friends.

HARMONY IN THE DEMOCRATIC RANKS

New York, Aug. 28.—As an evidence of the harmony that is prevailing in the united Democratic party, the Democratic National Committee is pointing with unconcealed pride to the cooperation of Governor Judson Harmon, Speaker Champ Clark, Representative Underwood, Governor Baldwin and Governor Foss in the campaign. These men were all active candidates for president on the democratic ticket. The fact that another man was selected at Baltimore has made no difference to them. Governor Foss is campaigning in Vermont in behalf of the democratic ticket; Speaker Champ Clark and Representative Underwood have already taken an active part in counsels of their party, and Governor Baldwin and Governor Harmon will take the stump after September 1st, and make as many speeches as may be required. Governor Marshall went to Maine on Monday and Mr. Underwood will come to New York the last of September and speak in adjacent states every day until November's election.

Zigomar Draws Enormous Crowd.

Zigomar, the thrilling and sensation al French detective story from the pen of Lem Sazir, drew large crowds at the DeSota last night. The story is the talk of the critics and to miss seeing Zigomar is to miss the season's greatest feature. The wonderful transformation, the "Will o' the Wisp," magnificent costumes and spectacular effects, holds the interest of the audience throughout. Too much cannot be said regarding this thrilling drama which will be shown again tonight.

For Representative Slem's Seat.

Bristol, Va., Aug. 28.—Republicans of the Ninth Virginia district rounded up here today to select a candidate for congress to succeed Representative Campbell Slem, who for several years has had the distinction of being the only republican member of the Virginia delegation in the National house of representatives. Mr. Slem could have had a renomination without opposition, but a short time ago he decided that he would retire to private life to devote himself to his business interests. The indications are that the nomination will go to L. P. Summers, an intimate friend and political association of Congressman Slem. The democrats have selected as their nominee Gen. Rufus A. Ayers of Big Stone Gap, a distinguished Confederate veteran and at one time attorney-general of Virginia.

Wrestling Match.

Friday night at the Lyric airdome in this city there will be a grand wrestling match between the Terrible Turk whose reputation is well known throughout the country and Denver Jack who is a giant and is recognized as the heavy champion of the south. There will be boxing contests between two well known boys. In whole it will be a rare sport for all who will witness it. One paid admission will entitle the picture show and the wrestling match.

SPONSOR'S BALL TO BE GIVEN IN THE ELKS HALL

Commander Crow and other interested parties decided yesterday that the Sponsors' ball, which is to be given during the Confederate Soldiers' Reunion, will be given in the Elks Hall instead of the Normal building. The people in the business party of town think that they ought to be given some of the entertainments at least. And as all the speaking and such forms of entertainment are to be held at the Normal building, it was thought to be nothing but fair to have the ball in the heart of the city.

template challenging the attitude of Edgar Ratliff in his apparent and alleged endorsement of Cal Bolin's action in searching me, that it is my wish and preference that they let the matter will be dropped. Says Mr. fuss about it, for, after all there was nothing particularly sacred about my person, even if there wasn't a gun. How came me to feel so bad about it at the time, I reckon, according to the nature of the human heart, being so tickled to be there and feeling so good toward all, it rather crushed me to be searched for the last thing on earth I had in mind.

"I never blamed Cal much, he did not know any better, but am frank to say, that the saddest self-reckoning with which I ever had to contend took hold of me, when Edgar Ratliff assumed the contemptuous attitude toward any grievance felt by reason of the search. He had received and invited many favors at my hands. Out of all the candidates for office in the past, he was the one more than any other whose announcement for office and liberal political advertisements cost him practically nothing. He had been favored more by me personally and by the News without cost and without expectation of return favor than any other man. With Ratliff it is "I am mayor now and you are a foreigner, unable to boost me any further."

"I want you to please tell my friends at Ada not to bother Mr. Ratliff on my account, that I am feeling all right. If what one of the most prominent men of Pontotoc county told me the other day is true his immediate pathway is full of thorns any way and he is to be pitied.

Yours fraternally,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT GOES TO VERMONT

Montpelier, Vt., Aug. 28.—Colonel Roosevelt is coming to Vermont tomorrow to begin a three days' speech-making tour of the state. He is scheduled to deliver his first speech tomorrow afternoon at Bennington and later he will be heard at Rutland, Burlington, Middlebury, St. Albans and several other of the principal cities and towns.

In view of the long-time reputation of Vermont as "the barometer state" in presidential campaigns, Colonel Roosevelt and his followers are naturally anxious that the Progressive party shall make a good showing in the state election here next Tuesday. The same is true of the republicans and democrats. All parties are sending their best spellbinders into the state to aid in the close of the campaign.

The Progressives hope to make a big cut in the normal republican plurality, even if they do not win the election. With few exceptions, Vermont's normal republican plurality of 25,000 as been followed by a republican victory in the nation in November following. If the third party succeeds in materially reducing this plurality next week it will be accepted as a good omen by Colonel Roosevelt and his adherents.

Realizing the fight they have ahead of them, the republicans are redoubling their efforts this year to maintain the normal republican plurality. Because of the significance which that plurality has been shown to have with respect to the result in November throughout the country, the Vermont republicans have received the assistance of the national organization to considerable extent.

MAY MANUFACTURE TWINE AT STATE PENITENTIARY

Oklahoma City, Ok., Aug. 28.—The Board of Prison control contemplates asking the Oklahoma Legislature for an appropriation to establish a twine and rope factory at the State Penitentiary in McAlester, according to tentative plans discussed at a session before Gov. Cruce today, attending which was G. T. Bryan, president of the State Board of Agriculture and R. W. Dick, warden of the prison. Warden Dick will go to Kansas, where they have been successfully operating such a factory in connection with the state prison, and was requested to formulate his recommendations to the board in writing. According to the Kansas showing the twine factory netted the state $150,000 last year, and gave the farmer twine at a reduction of twenty to twenty-five per cent. Here, as in Kansas, the work would be done by convicts.

The board also discussed the feasibility of the state's purchasing by condemnation proceeding coal deposits underlying the state's two thousand-acre farm which is operated in connection with the prison, and probably will recommend to the legislature that an appropriation be made for that purpose. Convicts in this instance would comprise the surface help, as the board does not contemplate putting them under ground. All the coal mined would go to the state institutions, and the prison would get the benefit of the prices now being paid private operators. With the twine and rope factory established and coal mined in conjunction with the farm as now operated, Warden Dick told the board he thought the institution would be selfsupporting.

AMBITIOUS PLANS OF L. & N.

New York, Aug. 28.—In railroad and financial circles a lively interest is displayed in the meeting of the directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company here tomorrow when it is expected that important details concerning the ambitious plans for the enlargement of the L. and N. system will be made known. The announced purpose of the meeting is to authorize an addition of $40,000,000 to the capital stock of the company and to consider plans for spending the proceeds of the new issue.

According to stories circulated in Wall street the L. and N. is to purchase the entire Cotton Belt System, operating nearly 2,000 miles of road, principally in Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. In addition to this move the Louisville and Nashville, it is said, will strengthen its hold on the Southern field by making important extensions and additions to its system in eastern Kentucky. The fulfillment of these plans will serve to establish a complete air line from the northern grain producing states to Mobile, Ala., and at the same time give the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road, whose entire capital is owned by the Louisville and Nashville, a direct outlet to the sea.

REPUBLICAN ELECTORAL TICKET WILL STAND

Guthrie, Ok., Aug. 28.—No sentiment whatever was manifest among the members of the Republican State Central Committee, in their recent meeting here, toward interfering in any manner with the electoral ticket nominated, on Aug. 6. The opinion had gone forth, in advance, that an effort should be made to eliminate from the ticket all Presidential elector nominees who had been quoted as stating the y would not support National Republican nominees.

The general opinion was that the electors nominated by the republicans went on the ticket as the representatives of that party, and that so far as the State Committee is concerned, they will remain on the ticket unless they themselves resign.

An interference with the electoral ticket was opposed by chairman Jim Harris, Congressman Bird McQuire, Vice Chairman A. H. Geissler, John Claypool of Duncan, Joseph Knox of Claremore and other republican leaders.

GAS STRUCK IN BADGER TEST WELL

FIRST STRATUM PENETRATED AT DEPTH OF 1,000 FEET—SINGS FAVORABLE FOR BIG

Tuesday afternoon a strong flow of gas was struck in the Badger well two miles west of Ada at a depth of about 1,000 feet. The pressure is said to be much stronger than in the first well, which was drilled a short distance from this one. It is also reported that very little oil has been found yet, nor is much looked for until the well reaches a depth of 1,500 feet or more. When it is about 100 feet deeper than at present, it is believed that the stratum of oil sand penetrated by the first well will be found, and then it will probably be some little time before the real strike is made. The Badger people are apparently confident of ultimate success, for they are sticking to the proposition and spending quite a little money in sinking this test well.

GOOD REPORT ON POTTERY CLAY

W. H. Ebey has again had a sample from his deposit of potter's clay tested, this time at Coffeyville, Kan. He again received a most favorable report and the company inquired about the extent of the deposit, the fuel problem and what inducement would be offered a pottery to locate at Ada. If gas is struck in large quantities it will be an easy matter to locate such an enterprise here.

NORMAL NOTES.

Letters by the dozen are being received daily now, asking for information about the school or for catalogues. Seventeen were received yesterday. This is very gratifying indeed, and indications point to the greatest opening, by a large margin, that we have ever had. No longer can people say it is a school for local pupils alone. We will have this year a number of juniors and seniors from the Normal schools of other states.

Through the influence of Mrs. Tom Hope, the Woman's Federated clubs of Oklahoma have approved a loan of $100 each to two young ladies to help pay their expenses in school here. This indeed is appreciated, and the people of Oklahoma will have occasion, it is to be hoped, to thank these good women for their generosity and foresight. May their good work go on and their labors be highly rewarded!

The Women's Aid Society of the First Baptist church is arranging to serve meals in the Normal building next week for the accommodation of visitors to the Confederate Soldiers' Reunion. The old soldiers will be fed free by the people of the town, and the Baptist ladies feel that it will be a great accommodation to the other people to have meals near the camping ground.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist Church will serve peach ice cream and home-made cake at Mrs. J. G. Winn's Friday Aug. 30th, from 6 to 10; price 15 cents. 123-4td

It was still unsettled when the long talk was over, but Grace agreed not to leave the minister at present. She would stay where she was until he was himself again, at least. Keziah was satisfied with the preliminary skirmish. She felt confident of winning the victory, and in the prospect of happiness for others, she was almost happy herself. Yet each time the mail was brought to the shanty she dreaded to look at it, and the sight of a stranger made her shake with fear. Ansel Coffin had threatened to come to Trumet. If he came, she had made up her mind what to do.

The parish committee was to meet. Captain Elkanah had announced his intention of moving that John Ellery be expelled from the Regular church. There was to be no compromise, no asking for a resignation; he must be discharged, thrown out in disgrace. The county papers were full of the squabble, but they merely reported the news and did not take sides. The fight was too even for that.

One afternoon a few days before the date set for the meeting Elkanah and two or three of his henchmen were on the piazza of the Daniels home, discussing the situation. They were blue and downcast. Annabel was in the sitting room, shedding

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes plant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Mother's Friend

cret which the captain kept to himself.

A hundred miles they sailed in the longboat and, at last, the second island was sighted. They landed and found, to their consternation and surprise, that it, too, was uninhabited. The former residents had grown tired of their isolation and, a trading vessel having touched there, had seized the opportunity to depart for Tahiti. Their houses were empty, their cattle, sheep, goats, and fowl roamed wild in the woods, and the fruit was rotting on the trees. In its way the little island was an Eveless Eden, flowing with milk and honey; but to Captain Nat, a conscientious skipper with responsibilities to his owners, it was a prison from which he determined to escape. Then, as if to make escape impossible, a sudden gale came up and the longboat was smashed by the surf.

"I guess that settles it," ruefully observed the second mate, another Cape Codder, from Hyannis. "Call it we'll stay here for a spell now, hey, Cap'n."

"For a spell, yes," replied Nat. "We'll stay here until we get another craft to set sail in, and no longer." "Another craft? Another one?" "Where in time you goin' to get her?" "Build her," said Captain Nat cheerfully. Then, pointing to the row of empty houses and the little deserted church, he added, "There's timber and nails—yes, and cloth, such as 'tis. If I can't build a boat out of them I'll agree to eat the whole settlement."

He did not have to eat it, for the boat was built. It took them six months to build her, and she was a curious-looking vessel when done, but, as the skipper said, "She may not be a clipper, but she'll sail anywhere, if you give her time enough." He had been the guiding spirit of the whole enterprise, planning it, laying the keel, burning buildings to obtain nails and iron, hewing trees for the largest beams, showing them how to spin ropes from coconut fiber, improvising sails from the longboat's canvas pieced out with blankets and odd bits of cloth from the abandoned houses. Even a strip of carpet from the church floor went into the making of those sails.

At last she was done, but Nat was not satisfied.

"I never commanded a ship where I couldn't hit Yankee colors," he said, "and, by the everlastin'! I won't now. We've got to have a flag."

So, from an old pair of blue overalls, a white cotton shirt, and the red hangings on the church pulpit, he made a flag and hoisted it to the truck of his queer command. They provisioned her, gave her a liberal supply of fresh water, and, one morning, she passed through the opening of the lagoon out to the deep blue of the Pacific. And, hidden in her captain's stateroom under the head of his bunk, was the ten thousand dollars gold. For Nat had sworn to himself, by "the everlastin'" and other oaths, to deliver that money to his New York owners safe and, necessary expenses deducted of course, untouched.

For seven weeks the crazy nondescript slopped across the ocean. Fair winds helped her and, at last, she entered the harbor of Nukahiva, over twelve hundred miles away. And there—"Hammond's luck," the sailors called it—was a United States man-of-war lying at anchor, the first American vessel to touch at that little French settlement for five years. The boat they built was abandoned and the survivors of the Sea Mist were taken on board the man-of-war and carried to Tahiti.

From Tahiti Captain Nat took passage on a French bark for Honolulu. Here, after a month's wait, he found opportunity to leave for New York on an American ship, the Stars and Stripes. And finally, after being away from home for two years, he walked into the office of his New York owners, deposited their gold on a table, and cheerfully observed, "Well, here I am."

But Trumet did not hear the yarn immediately. All that it heard and all that it knew was contained in Captain Nat's brief telegram. "Arrived today. Will be home Thursday." That was all, but it was enough for in that dispatch was explosive sufficient to blow to atoms the doctor's plans and Keziah's, the great scheme which was to bring happiness to John Ellery and Grace Van Horne.

Dr. Parker heard it, while on his way to Mrs. Prince's, and, neglecting that old lady for the once, he turned his horse and drove as fast as possible to the shanty on the beach. Fast as he drove, Captain Zebadee Mayo got there ahead of him. Captain Zeb was bawling his white and ancient steed to the post as the doctor hove in sight.

"By mighty!" the captain exclaimed, with a sigh of relief, "I'm glad enough you've come, doctor. I hated to go in there alone. You've heard, of course."

"Say, ain't it wonderful! I'm tickled all up one side and sorry all down t'other. Nat's a true-blue feller, and I'm glad enough that he ain't shark bait; but what about the minister and her? She's promised to Nat, you know. Are you goin' to tell Mr. Ellery?"

"Certainly not. And I hope he hasn't been told. He's getting well fast now, but he mustn't be worried, or back he'll go again. We must see Mrs. Coffin. Keziah is our main hold. That woman has got more sense than all the rest of us put together."

But it was Grace, not Keziah, who opened the shanty door in answer to their knock. She was pale and greeted them calmly, but it was evident that her calmness was the result of sheer will power.

"Won't you come in, doctor?" she

"He'll Never Marry Her, Now."

asked. "Good afternoon, Captain Mayo."

Dr. Parker entered the building, but Captain Zeb remained outside, stammering that he called he'd better stay where he could keep an eye on his horse. This was such a transparent excuse that it would have been funny at any other time. No one smiled now, however.

"Is—Mrs. Coffin—er—Keziah aboard?" the captain asked.

"No, she isn't. She went to the parsonage a few hours ago. Mr. Ellis brought the mail and there was a letter in it for her. She said it was important and that she must go home to see about some things. She'll be back pretty soon, I suppose."

Parker found his patient sleeping soundly and had not disturbed him. Returning to the living room he spoke to Grace.

"Humph!" he grunted, watching her from under his brows, "everything seems to be all right in there. He mustn't be told anything that will upset him. He's getting well fast and I want it to continue."

"Yes, I understand."

"Hum! Er—have you heard—Has anyone been here?"

"Yes. I have heard. The telegram came and I answered it."

"You did? Well, it's a miracle and we're all thankful, of course. Did you—er—"

"Doctor, I must go home. I mustn't stay here any longer. You know why not. I must be at home when he comes. You must get some one to take my place. Aunt Keziah will stay, of course, and perhaps Mrs. Higgins would come."

"But stay through tomorrow, at any rate. Nat won't get here until Thursday, and I may be able to find another nurse by that time. And what I shall say to him," motioning toward the other room, "I don't know."

TILLMAN LEADS IN THE S. C. PRIMARY

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27.—Incomplete returns from today's democratic primary in South Carolina show that Ira B. Jones, former chief justice of the state supreme court, is leading Cole L. Blease, the incumbent, in the race for the gubernatorial nomination. Returns from only a fifth of the total precincts show that Jones has 1,600 more votes than Blease. J. T. Duncan, the third candidate, had polled a slight vote.

United States Senator Ben R. Tillman, according to early returns, is leading both his opponents, W. J. Talbert and N. B. Dial. In the event the leading candidate fails to get a majority, a second primary will be held for the two leading candidates.

Returns are coming in slowly and indications are that the outcome of several of the contests will not be known until tomorrow.

Early returns indicate the renomination of Representative Byrnes in the Second, Aiken in the Third and Finley in the Fifth.

Representative Ellerbe and J. W. Ragsdale are running close in the Sixth.
